Find the Missing Word

There are two objectives to resolve this puzzle. First to open all the words and then to determine which word is MISSING. The missing word is in the list but not in the puzzle. You must find all the words, check them off the list as they are found so that you may determine which is the missing word.

Begin by drawing a line under each word, check the words off the list as they are found. Words may be vertical, horizontal, diagonal, backwards or upside down. When all the words have been checked off the list except one, it will be the missing word.

For beginners you may choose to do the puzzle using the solutions page until you become more familiar Missing Word Search.

Mind and Memory Building Better Brains

The Power of Puzzles

Solving puzzles has exceptional mental, and emotional benefits. For those slightly older, the benefits of puzzle solving include enhanced memory, better cognitive skills, improved concentration and better overall health.

Keeping your mind “Physically Fit” is important to one’s health. It is a known fact among doctors and researchers that senior brain games and mentally stimulating leisure activities help maintain one’s cognitive abilities that can decline as people age and brain activity is reduced.

The two hemispheres of your brain control different functions. The left side of your brain controls analytic and logical thinking and the right side controls creativity. When you are working on puzzles, you are engaging both sides and giving your brain a real workout.
